Architectural Historian, Ginger Weatherford, holds a Master of Preservation Studies from Tulane University, and a Bachelor of Science from San Diego State University.

Ms. Weatherford meets The Secretary of the Interior's Historic Professional Qualifications Standards in the disciplines of History and Architectural History. She brings diverse geographic and typological experience including historic-era building assessments in Texas, Montana, and throughout California; completing Section 106 compliance reviews for telecommunications sites and collocation towers throughout California; preparation of CEQA historical resource surveys for transportation projects in the Southern California region; Historic American Buildings Survey (HABS) documentation; local landmark applications; and design review analysis under The Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties. Ms. Weatherford is experienced in conducting historic paint analysis and material conservation projects at historic buildings. In addition to her technical expertise, she is an architectural photographer specializing in cultural and natural landscapes, and historic objects. Her work has been featured in local photography exhibitions.
